FIGHTING CONTINUES WITH RIGHT ARMY

RUSSIAN LOSS IS 30,000

Czar's Right Army Making Desperate Stand at River Shakhe--Kuropatkin's Report to Oct. 14 Denies Retreat---The Japanese Claim Decisive Victory.

Tokio, Oct. 16.—1 p. m.—Field Marshal Oyama estimates the Russian dead left on the field including the fighting of the 15th, at over 15,000.

Mukden, Oct. 16.—There was a lull in the battle yesterday, but fighting was fortunate today on the right. The army is southwest of Hsin, 15 miles. It is now certain that the army will be able to extricate itself. The casualties amount to 30,000. It has been a bigger fight than Liaoyang. The Russians are attacking on the right today.

London, Oct. 16. According to the Standard's Tokio correspondent, the Russians are being hard pressed over the Hun River and are retreating partly on Mukden and partly on Fushun.

Tokio, Oct. 17.—4:30 a. m.—It is authoritatively reported that the Russian fleet at Port Arthur is suffering severely from the fire from the Japanese land batteries.

STORY OF FIERCE BATTLE OF RUSSIAN CENTER ARMY

Mukden, Oct. 15.—via Fusing.—With the Russian army of the center. After the fighting of the bloodiest kind of eighty days of the hardest kind of fighting this section of the Russian army fell back last night on the Shakhe river and is now holding a position on that north side of the river. The fight commenced shortly after daylight and was continued with unabated fierceness until late in the afternoon. The fighting was principally over the hills to the east of the Mandarin road, which runs northward from Mukden to Fushun, the burning of which, and the smoke of battle, could be seen from the streets of Mukden.

In Trenches Ready.

The main fighting seemed to have the Japanese regiment being highly effective. The thunder and rain continued all the morning of the 15th, but soon after the storm ceased the fire commenced with its usual intensity. The Russians had their trenches ready, but retired slowly. The Japanese continued to threaten the Russian left.

Towards evening the Japanese opened with all their guns on the Russian position, the shells covering the hill in the fields and on the hills. In the morning of the 16th found the Russians with their backs to the Shakhe river across which transports had been withdrawn during the night. Fighting continued from these positions all during the day of the 16th, while the Russian reinforcements took up positions on the hills to the north of the river. Another thunder storm broke shortly after noon, flooding the streets and turning the roads into seas, and by evening the main Russian force had withdrawn across the Shakhe river. The Japanese guns were dropping within a short distance of the

Again at Daylight.

The fighting recommenced at daylight today, the boom of guns being continuous. A correspondent here with General Kuropatkin in the field for the battle commending the spirit in glowing terms of the bravery of the Japanese, stating that they were a gallant foe and pay that they have right. In this respect he said it was the most powerful army he had ever been associated with.

SHOVELLED SHELLS IN GUNS LIKE COAL IN FURNACES

Mukden, Oct. 16.—Evening.—The fighting in the north all day was severe. The men are tired out and food has been short. Every available gun and man are being used. The troops have behaved most gallantly during

FIGHTING IN SEA OF MUD

BOTH ARMIES ARE WATER-SOAKED—RUSSIANS HAVE RETREATED TEN MILES FROM FIRST POINT OF ATTACK.

Mukden, Oct. 16, via Fusing, Oct. 16.—Desultory commanding is heard, but there is not likely to be any important fighting today, as both armies are more or less mud.

The horse ridden by the correspondent of the Associated Press was belly deep in water this morning for several miles.

The Russian advancements along the railway yesterday were not sufficient to enable them to maintain their position along the line where the fight began and the Russian forces are now in the plain 10 miles north of the point where they attacked the Japanese on October 5. They are fighting hard and stubbornly, but are in retreat.

One newly arrived Russian corps gave a good account of itself. The Japanese succeeded in pushing their way to the Russian lines

COMMENTS ON OPENING GAMES OF HIGH SCHOOLS

With the real opening of the high schools' season last Saturday, the first chance was given to get a line on the material that will represent the High schools of Colorado on the gridiron this year.

Throughout the league there appears to be some good material, both individual and team, and with a larger number of schools in the leagues than ever before, the H. S. of 1904 will be a notable and interesting one. Already some of the teams have shown up well and with the exception of Central High school of Pueblo, which was badly defeated by the Denver East High school eleven, all have made creditable showings.

In the southern district, the local High school and Centennial High school of Pueblo appear to be in the lead. The latter played the Victor High school a game and though its goal was in danger most of the time, failed to register. In Saturday's game here, the High school team won by the score of 32 to 0. In Saturday's game here, the High school goal was not once in danger and the score was 32 to 0. This advantage of the locals, however, is somewhat discounted because of the poor work made by Cripple Creek here. On Friday Cripple Creek team was utterly unable to tear its opponents and at times fumbles were common occurrences. The Pueblo and Colorado Springs schools are expected to be among the leaders in the league and will undoubtedly be among the best scholastic exhibitions of the season.

Among the other schools of the division, Cripple Creek is showing up in creditable form and with good coaching and hard, steady practice will make a fierce fight for its first honors. The team is shown some good stuff and has [illegible] good material with a good coach. Central High school at Pueblo is rather light, but [illegible] and has team work and many times Victor and Cripple Creek are lacking in weight and in experience. It is their first season in real football and they will be rewarded with a creditable showing. They need coaching, for they could be worked up.

In the Southern part of the state, the Sumner Cubs are showing up in what appears to be their old-time strength. For the last th... years the team from Boulder has carried home the championship banner, and the score of 35 to 0 against Manual Training, Denver, indicates that although the Boys lost most of their star men they will give battle of putting up a stiff fight against all of the Denver teams in the division. Among the Denver schools North Denver and Manual are developing well in the game between the two Saturday, Manual was victorious by the score of 6 to 0, but it was a hard fought game from start to finish. Moreover West Denver makes a better showing in coming games than in the contest, the Boys, it will be down and out. East Denver stock seems to have taken a slump with the loss of [illegible] of its team this year. The first game of a week was with North Denver, which [illegible] by the score of 29 to 0. The school may take a brace and with the wealth of material it has make a [illegible].

There are a number of other schools of the state not in the league that are making good showings and may come up strong enough to have a claim on the championship at the end of the season.

Whatever the outcome, however, it is certain that the game that decides the final championship of Colorado on Thanksgiving day will be one of the best of the season.

"999" COMES HERE TODAY

SPLENDID SPORT IN PUEBLO YESTERDAY AND FINE EVENTS PROMISED FOR TUESDAY IN THIS CITY.

Special to the Gazette.

Pueblo, Oct. 16.—A big crowd witnessed today the best auto race meet ever held here. Such events are rather a novelty to this city, but everyone was greatly pleased.

There were five races, the one in which "999," the death-dealing racer driven by Joe Newkirk, being the feature and star attraction.

The first race was for a three-mile handicap for runabouts. It was won by "The Indian." Time, 5:04.

The second was a three-mile race for runabouts and was won by Mark Shaffer with W. H. Pickens second and Mr. Wells third. Time, 5:14.

The third was a novelty race for touring cars, distance two miles, but cars had to stop every half mile to exchange passengers. It was won by Mark Shaffer. Time, 8:41.

A three-mile handicap for a big Rambler, a small Rambler and a motorcycle was fourth. The small Rambler had a handicap of three-quarters of a mile and won in 5:45, the big Rambler second, in 5:15 and the motorcycle third, in 6:19.

The big race came next, Newkirk entering his big "999" racer against the small Rambler and giving the latter a handicap of a mile and a half in a three-mile race, half the distance. He made the three miles in 4:04, not record time, but quite fast time, in the circle he made better than a mile a minute.

Thousands of people were on hand to this feat and watched the big machine fly around the track. It was a thrilling event.

Tomorrow is the day of the big auto race at Pueblo, when [illegible] will try for the world's record. The race will be a [illegible] and will attract [illegible] from Denver and Colorado Springs. Many [illegible] will be present to witness the [illegible] and [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] will [illegible] the [illegible] of CHIEF SEXSCOUS HAS NOT BEEN INSTRUCTED BY THE MAYOR TO TAKE ACTION, BUT WILL BE PROBABLY TODAY.

Chief of Police Reynolds has not notified any of the so-called "social clubs" to close down their doors, but action of some kind relative thereto will be taken probably today.

Mayor Harris has investigated the charges made by the anti-Saloon league and has decided to act in the matter. He has not as yet given either Reynolds or Sexsmith any instructions, but will do so soon, it is understood. A report to this effect that Chief Reynolds had notified [illegible] clubs to close [illegible] within a specified time is not correct. No such steps have been taken.

CHARMS OF THE CANOE.

Detroit River in a Canoe—Canoeing Encourages Swimming on Account of Its Upsetting Qualities.

That frail craft which makes big Chief [illegible] the city of Avondale, beautiful from May until November, has now been established as an accessory in the development of this country's commerce, it appears. At any rate, Lewellas Hubbard, Jr., asserts in a recent number of "Outing," that, when Monsieur de La Mothe Cadillac [illegible] some 200 years ago, he did it in a canoe. And the scenery which he saw from his graceful shallop so charmed him that he begged for a chance to found a city there. Back in the 20s some men of Detroit who saw the river from canoes were likewise charmed, and formed a boat club, which has grown now in such proportions as to afford a $100,000 clubhouse. Cadillac said that in his time the ducks used so thick on the river that they drew up in line to let the canoe pass. If a duck should [illegible] to swim through the channels of the trees behind [illegible] a holiday the canoe would have to draw up to let it pass. And much the same [illegible] things existing on the Charles [illegible] Saturday evening.

One noteworthy effect of canoeing is that it is almost inevitably accompanied by acquaintance with the other excellent exercise and sport, swimming. Certainly one cannot thoroughly enjoy the [illegible] without [illegible] one has learned how to help [illegible] when mishaps. From the very sleepy of the boat it is inevitable that [illegible] shall sometimes be overturned, [illegible] jobs, and all.

And speaking of [illegible] reminds us that there are two distinct kinds of [illegible] one known as the "with a paddle" kind and that practiced by the [illegible] Indian. The first named is a species of canoeing in the parent, according to Mr. Hubbard, of the second. It develops "lady paddlers" to [illegible] of natural selection. "Some men" be [illegible] of natural selection. "Some men" be [illegible] save [illegible] behind the stage [illegible] of paddling in the canals for no other [illegible] [illegible] need that I can see than that the Lord never [illegible] them to be canoeists." Others learn in a day or [illegible] to be part of the craft, and then go on to conquer.

The canoeing which [illegible] feed too, to the sort that the voyageur knows, for out of those whom the Lord did mean for canoeists are some who care less for speed than for the gratification of the travel hunger, and sometimes these throw out the cushions and putting in the grub bag and shelter tent turn away from the clubhouse to the world beyond, where the fish are always hungry, where there are camping places with plenty of good water and enough wood for a cup of tea, and where one may forget, for a time at least, the stenchful city life. This is the sort of canoeing that does the most good of any sort, we are sure with whom Monsieur de La Motte Cadillac would be glad to have his name associated.—Boston Budget.

JAPANESE FARMERS.

Women Much Like the Indians—Do Much of Farm Work Besides Housekeeping.

If the lot of the Japanese farmer be hard, that of his wife is infinitely harder. She not only does an equal amount of labor in the field but the care of the household and the responsibility of the children devolve upon her exclusively.

From earliest infancy a Japanese girl is taught to be obedient to her parents and when she is about to be married her mother gives her thirteen rules by which to govern her acts in the married life. Among them are the following: "Be always kind to your mother-in-law and sisters-in-law." "Get up early; [illegible] up late at night and do not take a nap in the day time." "Be a good housekeeper; be economical in everything." "It is well for a [illegible] the girl who is about to become a farmer's wife that the last two commandments have been so instilled that she is prepared to regulate her life by them.

The first to rise, and is [illegible] to be the last to retire and when the male members of the family may be seen stretched on the floor taking their siesta the patient housewife may be seen [illegible] some garment of size [illegible] in the field. It is [illegible] however, to train her so [illegible] that is compulsory.

[illegible] the farmer has completed [illegible] his heavy [illegible] little wife [illegible] from under the [illegible] and [illegible] furniture is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
